Subject: Entries invited for the HBNCRIIA competition for innovations for and from grassroots

Dear Dr. Nipun Jindal

As you might be aware the Gujarat Grassroots Innovation Augmentation Network (GIAN), was set up in 1997 as the world's first grassroots innovation incubator with the support of the Government of Gujarat, SRISTI, and IIMA. We scale up and spawn grassroots innovations and help convert them into successful enterprises. We provide the innovators with adequate linkages with modern science and technology experts, market researchers, design institutions, and funding organizations.

To trigger, augment and support creative ideas and innovations of people and communities, we have recently instituted the HBN CRIIA, an inclusive innovation award in collaboration with Gharda Foundation, UNDP Accelerator Lab Network, SRISTI, SEVA, PalleSrujana, Ama Akha Pakha, Peermade Development Society and other Honey Bee Network Institutions. The Honey Bee Network Creativity and Inclusive Innovation Award (HBN CRIIA) is inviting entries from creative people of all age groups who have done any innovation or have a creative & innovative idea or traditional knowledge practices. Innovations should help in solving day-to-day problems faced by the people, especially the grassroots communities. The innovation can be related to anything about our environment, household utility, industrial-technological solutions, innovative engineering or agricultural projects, etc.

One can send as many entries as one wishes, in any field of social application at hbncriia@gian.org. The purpose of the award is to recognize the unique innovations around the world. Selected ones will be given the incubation support for helping their dreams to come true. It's a platform for showcasing innovativeness and creativity in the formal and informal sectors of our society. May we request you to kindly circulate the announcement widely. We have extended the deadline till August 31, 2022. Entries received after that will be included in the next year's awards.

Looking forward to having your best cooperation. Wishing you and your team a safe and healthy future
